

Angus Geddes

Angus Geddes is the co-founder, CEO and CIO of Fat Prophets. Established in June 2000, Fat Prophets has grown into a recognised provider of both independent research and investment portfolio management encompassing major global stock markets. Angus has a wealth of experience acquired over more than two decades in both domestic and international financial markets. Aside from running Fat Prophets, Angus has broad investment responsibilities within the wealth management division. Over the last nine years Angus has been responsible for the construction of a range of long only model portfolios investing in equities across global markets, each of which is measured against appropriate market indexes. Angus has also been closely involved in the management of Fat Prophets long only and trading accounts. The latter have broad mandates covering global equities, commodities, currencies and real property and make use of leverage and derivative instruments. Majoring in Economics, Angus completed a Bachelor of Commerce degree at Otago University, New Zealand in 1990. He is also a member of the Securities Institute of Australia having qualified for a Graduate Diploma in Applied Finance and Investment in 1999.